INTRODUCTION AND OUR POLICY

The Hoburne and Burry and Knight groups include Hoburne Ltd, Burry and Knight Ltd and their subsidiaries, as defined in section 1159 of the UK Companies Act 2006. Our registered office is 10 Hoburne Lane, Highcliffe, Christchurch, Dorset, BH23 4HP, United Kingdom.

Hoburne has a zero-tolerance approach to any form of modern slavery and is committed to acting ethically, with integrity and transparency in all business dealings, and to putting effective systems and controls in place to safeguard against any form of modern slavery taking place within the business or our supply chain. As a family business, our shareholders expect us to conform to the highest ethical standards at all times. Our ethics code is set out across a number of policies such as our anti bullying and harassment policy, whistleblowing policy, recruitment and selection policy, equal opportunities and diversity policy and anti-corruption and bribery policy.

OUR BUSINESSES

Hoburne Ltd and its sister company Burry & Knight Ltd trade as Hoburne Holidays. Our business was founded in 1912 and continues to operate as a family-owned business with eight holiday parks and a residential park within the UK offering holiday home ownership and holiday accommodation to our customers.

Burry & Knight Ltd and its subsidiary Hoburne Development Company Ltd have a long history of building properties in the South of England which goes back over 50 years. The company has been involved in the development of houses, bungalows, flats, apartments, and commercial properties throughout the region.

Burry & Knight owns and operates two of our holiday parks and three golf courses along the south coast. It also owns and manages commercial and residential rental properties within the local area.

OUR PEOPLE

Our employees are based in our holiday parks, golf clubs and our group support/head office. We operate only in the UK and abide by all employment laws. As such, we believe that we are at low risk of modern slavery in our employee base. We have a strict recruitment process to verify eligibility to work and all new seasonal and permanent employees are guided through our grievance procedures and employee code of conduct. We are committed to promoting equal opportunities and diversity in employment in line with the Equality Act 2010. We operate a whistleblowing policy and any reports are fully investigated and appropriate remedial actions taken. All our policies are openly available within the Employee handbook and on the Hoburne intranet hub where further refresher courses and updates can be accessed.

OUR SUPPLIER CHAIN AND REVIEW UNDERTAKEN

The company will not support or deal with any business knowingly involved in slavery or human trafficking. Our main suppliers are all UK registered and many have a long history with us. We consider our main risks to be third-party contract labour in the construction industry and caravan manufacturing.

We have conducted an audit of our suppliers and contractors and mapped out the areas of risk. Many of our contractors publish their own policy and are members of global networks, which provide supplier risk management and compliance, and supplier visibility. Some of our suppliers, however, fall below the government threshold of having to publish their own policy. We recognise that steps to help eradicate modern slavery should be adopted by all businesses no matter of size. To give us the assurance that they support our policies and have their own policies and controls in place, in Q1 2023, we sent letters and a questionnaire again to those 'At Risk' suppliers who were under threshold for publishing their own policy. We also asked for a copy of their Modern Slavery Policy as well as outlining our Policy and the steps that we would be taking.

We have reviewed and assessed the responses received and are satisfied that those suppliers contacted have either taken steps to manage the risks within their own business and supply chain or are at least accepting of our Policy and have acknowledged awareness of the potential risks where they fall below the threshold.

DUE DILIGENCE, RISK ASSESSMENT PROGRAMME AND MEASURING EFFECTIVENESS

The Directors recognise our responsibility to meet human rights responsibilities and this is supported by Hoburne Group shareholders. We have assessed areas of risk with our suppliers and continue to assess and respond to the risk of modern slavery and incidences of modern slavery. We will continue to publish and update when further progress has been made.

We have internal procedures in place for procurement and carry out due diligence on all suppliers before allowing them to become a preferred supplier.

During the year and throughout our review, we have found no areas of concern, instances of non-compliance or non-acceptance. However, we recognise that we need to continue to assess on an ongoing basis.

We pledge to continue to audit our supplier chain, map out high-risk areas to improve our understanding of our suppliers' policies and practices to combat Modern Slavery, to raise awareness of Modern Slavery and Human Rights and to affirm our zero-tolerance approach. We will continue to disclose our findings in future statements.

We will continue to request acceptance of our anti-slavery policy and remove any supplier from our approved supplier list should any instances of modern slavery come to light.

TRAINING FOR STAFF

Our statement, policies and information on Modern Slavery are available on the Hoburne intranet hub. All our staff are required to complete mandatory online training courses to increase awareness of our Hoburne policies across all departments and to embed a culture of learning and joint ownership in tackling modern slavery.
